Re: Acquisition Announcement – Genie has acquired BenchSentry

The Genie Company is pleased to announce the acquisition of BenchSentry®, the premier package delivery porch box solution. This acquisition of BenchSentry's assets expands our capabilities and our product portfolio to include a complete line of secure package delivery services for our customers, positioning Genie as the leading solution provider for the growing package theft problem.

BenchSentry® has completed extensive research to develop a product that is simple, fast, and easy to use for both carriers and consumers. The BenchSentry® solution includes industry leading technology that tracks, stores, and helps protect deliveries via an app, touchscreen, and lid-activated speaker.

The porch box product category is new, so consumer awareness is low. Garage door dealers have the opportunity to be the first to introduce this product to consumers with turnkey installation, giving consumers new options for package delivery. Ordering details will follow.

BenchSentry® is integrated with Aladdin Connect to allow consumers to select where their packages are delivered, the porch box or the garage.

Step 1
Setup a delivery on the BenchSentry app and check the box for garage delivery

Step 2
The delivery driver enters the tracking code on the bench

Step 3
BenchSentry displays message and plays audio clip informing driver to place package in garage

Step 4
Delivery driver places package in garage

Step 5
After delivery is complete, BenchSentry closes the garage door
