Due to new standards recently adopted by the California Energy Commission, the below garage door opener light bulbs manufactured after January 1, 2018, may not be offered for sale in California at this time. This applies only in California. There are no safety risks associated with the current light bulb and it may be sold anywhere else in the country.

The following part numbers received after the noted ship date are affected by this California regulation:

| Part#s | Model#s / Description | Shipments Received   |

For customers who have a “Brick and Mortar” business in the state of California AND you have physically received any of the above part numbers into inventory during or after the month shown, or if you have any questions, please contact our Customer Service Team at 800-843-4084 option 2 for additional information and further instructions.

For customers who do not have a business in California but it is possible that your business provides these items to residents in CA, please take necessary precautions to exclude sales of these items from shipment into that state (including Online sales). Again, these regulations are only for the state of California. If you do not conduct business in the state of California, no action is required.

We are currently working on a revised light bulb that will be able to be offered for sale in California and we expect that we will have it available for you in the next 3-4 months. Until that time, please take the necessary steps to ensure that you do not offer the above light bulbs for sale to any customer in California.

An additional information bulletin will be released when the revised product is available to order. We apologize for any disruptions to your business but anticipate this opportunity for improvement to take an extremely minimal amount of time.
